All Collector's accounts which are outlawed and not collectable have been thrown out. A few items on these books are secured by liens and collectable, but have not been placed in the assets.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF SCHOOLS

To the Secretary of the School Committee of the Town of Barkhamsted.

Dear Sir:

I have the honor to submit the following report:—

ATTENDANCE.

Every effort should be made by the parents and guardians of children to keep them in school. The attendance during the past year has not been what it should have been and it would seem that a greater effort should be made to improve things along this line. A great deal depends upon prompt and constant attendance if we are to raise the standard of our schools. The teacher and those responsible for the upbuilding of the schools can be assisted in their work if those who have the care of the children see to it that they are sent to school regularly. It would be a good plan for the community at large to see that each case of persistent absence is reported. Tardiness is another thing to look out for. There is altogether too much tardiness in our schools. This is something that can be easily remedied. The habit of always being late, if acquired thus early in life will stay with the child always and be a hindrance to him in all his after life. It is a more serious fault than many suppose and is responsible for most of life's failures. Let us eradicate this evil.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

Many of our school rooms are not large enough. It is a question of a short time when the state will require school authorities to provide school rooms large enough to enable each child to have the proper amount of air space. It behooves us to be prepared and it will be much easier to fix up one or two rooms a year taking advantage of the state funds as now provided than when we are compelled to do it all at one time. There was very little done in the way of improvements to school buildings last year. The state has thus far been very considerate in its demands and is willing to continue thus if it sees an evident desire on the part of the town to follow its suggestions.

HEATING AND VENTILATING.

Too little attention is paid to the matter of heating and ventilating our school buildings. There are people who make a specialty of these things and it would be wise to consult with them and install their system in our larger rooms. The heater is placed in one corner of the room out of the way and the air is heated as it comes directly from the outside. Thus the atmosphere of the school room is kept free from foul air at all times. At present the stove in the middle of the room takes up valuable space, and there are extremes of heat and cold which at times are intolerable

SCHOOL PLAYGROUNDS.

In a community where land is so plenty it would seem that a small portion might be set aside in each district for a school playground. With the exception of Center and Riverton none of the school buildings are furnished with adequate space for a suitable playground. If time ever was when the street was a suitable place for school children to play their games, that time is certainly not the present, with automobiles dashing by at all times. Even in the remoter districts the danger exists for the children are less wary. No wonder there are complaints of trespass. What are the children to do? If they play in the street it is at the risk of their lives; if they leap the fence for a frolic in the fields, they are looked upon as intruders, trespassers and vandals. It is time public attention was turned in this direction. There are plenty of public spirited individuals who would help with this work if it was called to their notice. The public is always ready to help in a really worthy cause. There is little grumbling if the people are convinced that they are getting their money's worth. A certain point has to be reached, however, before the public catches the spirit.

TEXT BOOKS.

Some of the text books have been in use a long time: Since their adoption better books and those more nearly filling the needs of country schools have been published. In some cases the books now in use are in such condition that it would be cheaper to introduce new than replace the old.

The usual statistical table is appended.
